

SMOKE SIGNALS

For The Parents, Staff, Students & Community Of Boone High School Brought To You By PTSO

Principal's Message

Spring is here! One tell-tail sign is our school calendar is jam-packed with activities. Even in this very untraditional year, we are grateful that we have some sense of normalcy with athletics, performing arts, and extra-curricular activities. We were so thrilled to hear from Dr. Jenkins last month that we will have the opportunity to take part in a traditional graduation for our class of 2021! We have been very busy planning as many memory-making activities for our seniors as possible, and I think we are on the right track.

Our students and staff have been working hard all year and are ready for our state assessments. We are aware of the hardships at hand, given a world-wide pandemic and the many ways it has affected teaching and learning. However, I am confident that we have given our all and prepared our students well through a blended instructional model of Face to Face and LaunchED at-home instruction. Our teachers have been rock stars through this learning curve, our students have shown perseverance, and our parents have partnered with us to foster the collaboration.

The AP exam schedule has been released, and we are grateful to College Board for offering districts and schools flexibility with regard to the manner with which we will test our students. We have chosen a blended model which means testing digitally at home for some courses and going the traditional pencil and paper testing route on site for others. This decision was made with teacher and student input, and we believe we have set our scholars up for success.

This time of year also brings a renewed sense of excitement as the Class of 2021 prepares to graduate, underclassmen plan for their futures, and the next generation of Boone Braves prepares to come to our campus. We all should be quite comfortable in knowing that our future is in the capable hands of great young people. We are proud that so many of them, with your guidance, have selected demanding course work that will prepare them for their futures.

I would be remiss if I ended this spring update without recognizing the top of our Senior Class, led by our Valedictorian, Brogan Tagman, who has a 5.45 GPA and our Salutatorian, Cristina Sotolongo, who has a 5.35 GPA! The Top 20 students listed below, led by Brogan and Christina, are a tremendous representation of what it means to be Boone Braves.

Sunshine State Scholar

Congratulations to Cassidy Camera for being selected as one of only three 11th grade students in OCPS as a Sunshine State Scholar. Each of Florida's school districts selects their top 11th grade students in the areas of Science, Technology, Engineering or Mathematics (STEM). Each scholar, along with their parents, will meet in Orlando for a two-day program designed to bring together scholars from around the state, connect them with employers that specialize in the STEM fields, and create a networking opportunity between the scholars and schools from Florida's College and State University System. This year's program will bring 103 high school STEM scholars together to conduct a "think tank" on tough Florida challenges.

PTSO

Welcome Back! I hope everyone enjoyed a restful and rejuvenating Spring Break and you are energized to make the end of this school year the best it can be. It is hard to believe that we only have 9 weeks left! Even though It has not been the year we expected or anticipated, I am so proud of all that we have accomplished and how we have all joined together to make the most of it. Now, let's Finish Strong Braves!

PTSO Committee Chairs have been busy. Guidance Counselor Appreciation week was at the beginning of February. Thank you to Erin Summer for getting muffins for our guidance counselors and Kristi McCarey for arranging and delivering flowers, a note and a candy bar to each of them. PTSO and Hungry Pants sponsored a lunch for them as well. Our Teacher Appreciation chairs, Beth Seabrook and Gerri Padron, organized our Sweetheart Luncheon for all of our custodians and cafeteria workers. Their lunch was from Brazas Chicken and was greatly appreciated. PTSO is grateful for our guidance counselors, cafeteria workers, custodians and community partners! Also, thank you to our Sophomore Committee for helping organize another successful Blood Drive.

Please continue to check our Facebook pages for the most up to date end of year information. You won't want to miss anything about end of year testing, events or activities including events for our Seniors! If you haven't already joined our pages, we would love for you to, so you don't miss a thing. Our main page is "Boone Braves PTSO" and each class also has its own page: Boone Braves 2021, 2022, 2023, 2024. We have also already created our Facebook page for our future Braves. If you have an incoming Freshman or know someone who does, please join this page: Boone Braves 2025.

Please mark your calendars and plan to join us for our final PTSO General Meeting of the school year. It is May 18th at 6:00pm and will be a Zoom meeting. Please look on Facebook for details the week before. We will be voting on the new slate of officers for the 2021-2022 school year.

It has been my absolute honor and privilege to serve as your PTSO President this school year. I truly believe that Boone High School is the best high school in Orange County and maybe even the State of Florida! We have the best teachers, admin and principal. They all make our school incredible, but it is you, our parents, volunteers, and community members, that complete the puzzle and make us the ABSOLUTE BEST!

You have each contributed in some way this year and I appreciate it very much. PTSO would not be what it is without each of you. Thank you for all you have done. It has been an incredible year and I look forward to another even better one!!

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CLASS OF 2021! WAY TO GO SENIORS!

Forever Brave,
 Jessica Pullum

We'll Treat Your Whole Tribe!

Is Your Student Going to College?

An Admissions Counselor's Guide for College Applicants

1. Build a strong foundation in high school. To get ahead, begin establishing a strong grade point average (GPA) in ninth grade.
2. Participate in at least one extracurricular activity and one community service activity. What you do in your free time reveals a lot about you, particularly your passions and values. Involvement in outside activities, particularly STEM-related clubs and organizations, may give you an edge over another applicant with equal academic qualifications.
3. Take standardized testing seriously. Test scores still play a big role in landing an acceptance letter, so take plenty of time to prepare. Sign up for prep courses and practice tests like the PSAT. There are also free study guides and materials available online. Make the effort to take both the SAT and ACT and take at least one of them twice to get a better score. When taking advanced placement (AP) exams, keep in mind top colleges accept scores of only five or higher.
4. Prioritize your college applications. It takes time to compile a thoughtful, thorough college application. Keep that in mind as you decide which universities to apply to. Keep in mind, you'll still need time to manage your high school course load and enjoy your free time with friends and family.
5. Incorporate your personality in the personal essay. While you don't want to be too casual in your application, neither should you overuse jargon. A good practice is to give specific examples. So, for instance, instead of writing that you "value community service," tell a brief story from your volunteer work.
6. Show why you're special. Schools are looking for students who demonstrate noteworthy ideas and accomplishments. Sharing how you have triumphed in the face of difficulty like a challenging semester, family issue or other life circumstance demonstrates your best qualities.
7. Stay organized. Mark your calendar and stay on top of application deadlines, as well as cut-off dates for submitting deposits, transcript requests and immunization records. A missed deadline could delay registration, prompt additional fees or lead to a lack of admittance into the university altogether.
8. Do not let finances deter you. Don't automatically discount a school you're interested in just because of cost. Reach out to the Financial Aid office for more information and research your options. Dig deep enough and you'll find there are more scholarships available than you might think. Check out the Scholarship Search tool on www.STEMStudy.com, a great resource for students interested in applying to a STEM-focused college.
9. Contact the colleges. College fairs and university tours are a great way to not only collect firsthand information about the school, but also to meet one-on-one with an admissions counselor.
10. Be careful about your social media posts. Admissions Counselors may access your social media accounts, so be sure what they find is appropriate. Something negative or unfavorable can lead to a denial letter or withdrawal of acceptance.

Testing Information

During this unusual year, the state has decided that districts will still be conducting annual assessments of student learning. The state has the following assessments: FSA (Florida Standards Assessment) for English 1 and 2, EOC's (End of Course Exams) for Algebra 1, Geometry, Biology and US History. The EOC score will count as 30% of a student's final grade in these courses and these courses will not be marked complete, receive a final grade nor credit for the class until the EOC is taken. All state testing MUST be done on campus. Launch Ed students are required to come on campus to test. If you have any questions please feel free to contact our Testing Coordinator, Christina Hedke, at: Christina.Hedke@ocps.net.

- The boys soccer squad completed their season ranked #9 in the Sentinel's "Second Six", one year after falling in the state championship game.

Remembering Coach Wayne Rickman

Story written by McKenna Murphy

Wayne Rickman, former head coach of the varsity boys basketball team, died at the age of 83 on Feb. 26. Rickman, who coached and taught on campus from 1976 to 1993, won two state championships and accomplished 512 wins.

His funeral over the weekend included attendees like current boys basketball coach Dave Martinson.

"There were a lot of former players from different generations, past teachers and coaches," Martinson said.

Those who spoke relayed a common message about the type of person he was, one who cared for players both off and on the court.

"The players that spoke at the funeral said he was a great coach but even better person and truly cares about his players and still looks after them," Martinson said. "He wanted to truly make the players better rather than care about wins and losses. I want to learn from him and become a better coach off the court."

JV boys basketball coach Summer, former player for Rickman, felt similarly about Rickman's impact on his players.

To this day, players continue to learn from him through the current coaches. Martinson and Summer still bring lessons learned from Rickman into their coaching styles.

"[Rickman taught us] discipline and respect. Those are two areas that no matter if you become a professional athlete or a normal member of a community," Summer said. "If you have discipline in your life and treat others with respect, you will have success."

Both coaches aspired to leave a similar impact on their players that Rickman left on them.

"His belief in us, his constant motivation and the foundation he had created at Boone, gave us the confidence that resulted in tremendous success. I have a lot of memories playing basketball at Boone and he was the center of many of those memories," Summer said.

Earlier this year, Rickman saw the new gym, named after him, and attended a few home basketball games.

"I was grateful that he got a chance to see the new gym. He was one of the first to see the new gym before everything was done," Martinson said.

Rickman's legacy as a person and a coach will continue to be remembered.

"He is one of those people in your life, that you want him to be proud of you. Coach Rickman had an impact on me that I want to replicate to others," Summer said.
