ILEARN TESTING IS COMING UP!

HELPFUL REMINDERS

As we look to ahead in preparation to the new ILEARN test, here are a few things that you can do to help your child be as successful as possible.

How can students get ready for ILEARN?

- Be prepared - Cramming for any test is never the best way to prepare. Keep up with your homework and ask your teachers for help when you need it.
- Ask for help - If you've had trouble with standardized testing in the past, ask a teacher, counselor or parent about extra help now.
- Review - Try to take it seriously when your teachers review important information that may help you feel more prepared.
- Double-check your work - Get in the habit now of double-checking your work and proofreading your answers on homework to be ready to find mistakes on test days.
- Get plenty of sleep - Go to bed a little earlier so you get a good night's sleep. Being well rested will give you an extra boost of energy.
- Have a good breakfast - Eating a healthy breakfast will help you perform better. Too much food can make you feel sleepy, so don't overdo it.
- Take a break - Get some exercise during your breaks or after school to keep your energy up.

What can parents do to help students prepare for ILEARN testing?

- Stay connected - The best preparation is to provide consistent support for your child throughout his or her education.
- Know what's expected - Read information available at Indiana Department of Education

(<https://www.doe.in.gov/>) so you know what your child should know and be able to do, reinforce these expectations at home and stay connected to your child's academic performance throughout the year.

- Check grades - Your son or daughter may say things are "fine" at school but don't stop checking Canvas, progress reports or, if available, your child's online grades or class progress.
- Check Canvas / Team Newsletters for updates - Teachers know how hard students are working, the quality of their homework and what areas need improvement.
- Stay involved - Nothing will have a bigger impact on your student's success than your involvement in his or her education. If your child is not studying at home, ask why, and double-check with teachers. It's tough to hold the line, but making sure your child does get the proper amount of rest and eat properly is important for academic success as well.
- Ask for help - Students who are struggling in a particular class may need extra help after school or with a tutor. Find out from your school where you can go for help and make sure your student gets the help he or she needs. Catching a problem area now can make a big difference.

Please feel free to contact the school if you have any major questions or concerns on how to best support your child.

Sincerely,
Todd A. Crosby, Principal

GO TO NASA'S JOHNSON SPACE CENTER!

Clay Middle School teachers Mr. Sturgis and Mr. Dial were awarded a scholarship from Indiana's Space Grant Consortium to attend the 2024 SEEC conference in Houston Texas at Space Center Houston and Johnson Space Center! SEEC, or Space Exploration Educators Conference, is an annual conference held by NASA personnel and its goal is to "ignite" educators' passion for space exploration education. Attendees participated in curated sessions from educators and NASA experts while interacting with other teachers to learn and grow together.

This year's conference was aligned with the on-going Artemis missions currently underway at NASA. With Artemis, NASA is leading the next steps to return humans to the Moon. Mr. Dial and Mr. Sturgis were able to learn about the Artemis missions and NASA's plan to put humans back on the moon in 2026! In addition to meeting current NASA astronauts, engineers, and administrators, Mr. Dial and Mr. Sturgis were also provided an opportunity to learn from teachers from around the world. Sturgis and Dial returned home with materials and lesson plans which will be shared with students and fellow science and technology teachers at Clay.

THE GREEN SCENE

This year's Earth Hour will be celebrated on March 23rd from 8:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Millions of people across the planet will come together to turn off lights and electrical equipment for one hour. The event symbolizes that by working together, each of us can make a positive impact in addressing climate change, conserving energy and protecting the planet.

In celebration of Earth Hour, Team Atlas Green Team students entered an art contest sponsored by the Carmel Green Initiative. This year's theme was how to preserve and protect our natural resources.

Congratulations to our top 20 entries. They will be moving on to the next phase of judging! Stay tuned for the results!
