

Principal's Message

Dear Parents and Students,

How quickly the final quarter of the school year has arrived! While there is great anticipation about the exciting events which come at this time of year, there are still plenty of significant learning opportunities and decisions ahead. While our underclassmen have already taken the critical first step of course selections for next year, many of our seniors are just now finalizing plans for life after Naples High. In addition, we are all beginning the process of final preparations for a busy end of year testing season which will consume the entire month of May as well as a several days in April. Regardless if it is choosing courses, preparing for an exam, or making the challenging final decision on post high school life; we know that our students are prepared.

Testing season looms large over the final quarter of the school year. Recent changes to state statute have moved testing to later in the year which has created an abundance of testing in the month of May. All of our students will be participating in the Florida Standards Assessments, Advanced Placement exams, AICE tests, final exams, and industry certification performance tasks. These assessments will be used to measure how well our students are learning state and industry standards while also providing the opportunity to earn valuable college credit. In the coming weeks we will be sure to communicate that a comprehensive testing schedule is on our school website. Please be sure to consult this calendar as many of the exams do not offer make-up dates.

In addition to these assessments, the end of the school year also presents the opportunity to celebrate our success. Whether it is our traditional awards celebrations or something specific to a club or a team, the pride our students take in their performance is what makes

Naples High School a special place. There is a great deal to be proud of this school year. The accolades and accomplishments are too many to list here but each and every one of them is a reflection of our outstanding students, faculty, and staff.

While it is tempting to begin the process of reflecting on the triumphs of the school year, there is still work to be done. I am confident that our school will continue on its successful path as we each finish the year on a positive note. Go Eagles!

From the Desk of the Assistant Principal for Curriculum

Our 2018-2019 school year is quickly ending. Now is the time to make sure the students finish strong. With only a few weeks to go, remind your students to keep up with their daily assignments, turn in their work, and/or ask for help. It is extremely easy to get complacent and forget about quarter their four grades. Don't forget, we still have teachers that assist students during lunch. Our tutoring schedule is as follows: Monday, Math (2-214 Ms. Jacob), Tuesday, English (11-215 Ms. O'Leary), Wednesday, Science (5-119 Ms. D'Arco), Thursday, Math (2-114 Mr. Bruland), and Friday, English (11-212 Ms. Krapf). Students should take advantage of these last opportunities prior to the testing "season."

Naples High School's state mandated testing will begin on May 1 and will be completed by May 29. It is important that students be in school during this time. Not only is this the official testing timeline for state tests, we also need to administer AP tests, AICE/Cambridge tests, senior final exams, and underclass final exams. The makeup window is extremely short.

Take some time to reflect on all the things from this past school year. Remember to thank each other for all help and support given to the students, teachers, and staff of Naples High School. I hope you all have a fun and relaxing summer! See you in August!

Mr. Joseph A. Manento
Asst. Principal of Curriculum & Instruction

The Latest from the Office of Student Relations

We are in the final weeks of another fantastic year here at Naples High. The Attendance and Discipline Office is excited to report numerous accomplishments made by our students this year, both behavioral and academic. Positive referrals are up once again this year. Our students have received 29% more positive referrals compared to last year and we are proud of the great strides they are making in the classroom and around campus.

Additionally, once again we recognized our students who received Perfect Attendance Awards. All students who achieved perfect attendance for 3rd quarter were recognized and given their certificates when we returned from spring break. As we continue to trend in the right direction in regards to attendance, we have seen an increase of .3% in our daily attendance compared to this time last year and it is in part to those students. Thank you to the parents and family members who help to get our students to school on time each and every day.

Please remember that in order to purchase tickets to prom, all obligations must be paid in full prior to the purchase of the ticket. We encourage students to pay their obligations sooner rather than later and to not wait until the week that tickets go on sale. Automated calls have been sent out if your student has an obligation and they can check with Mrs. Gatis in the attendance office to see if they have a balance. Temporary badge stickers are on a student's obligation and we have quite a few students who owe money because of these stickers. We accept checks or cash only for obligations and all checks can be made payable to Naples High School.

Less than ten weeks separate our students from summer vacation and we encourage everyone to finish the year strong and to continue the positive trends we see on campus. Naples High School continues to grow both in size and success and we know that our students will complete the year as strong as they began. We want to thank the parents and family members of our students who support the school and their child's education.

Alleviate Test Stress: Plan, Don't Cram

By Adam J Weikel

Testing season is upon us once again at Naples High School. For many students, this also comes with an overwhelming sense of anxiety. Fear of failure, lack of preparation, or a poor testing history are some of the factors that contribute to anxiety. As a teacher, I see the anxiety that these exams bring some students and the pressure that they put on themselves to perform well. Over the years, I have recommended two strategies that students can follow to alleviate stress as the testing season approaches; the first strategy is to plan, the second strategy is not to cram.

Planning for the testing season involves setting aside time to study for upcoming exams and tests. By planning their study time, students can lower anxiety levels and prioritize studying for tests that are going to be more demanding. I also recommend that students plan group study sessions, which will allow them to gain additional knowledge and cover more material.

Cramming for tests has long been a strategy that students have used. However, testing studies have shown that cramming for tests not only increases anxiety but also lowers performance. The best thing that students can do, the night before an exam, is to get plenty of sleep.

For state and district exam dates at Naples High School please go to the CCPS main page, click on the "Schools" tab, select "Naples High School", and then click on the link labeled "School-Specific Assessment Calendar".

Exceptional Student Education Update

The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation visited our campus in February for an evening presentation for parents and guardians of students with IEPs and 504 plans. While at Naples, they shared what how their organization can be of assistance. Their representatives, Lisa O'Leary and Emma Trevino, presented information that explains how their agency can provide supports and services to individuals with disabilities who have an active IEP or 504 plan. They offer assistance to help students transition from high school to post-secondary schooling or vocational training programs. They have an application and qualifying process for their services. If you have an IEP or a 504 Plan and missed the opportunity to attend, there is a brochure in at our ESE Office that you can pick up to read about their services. You can also get more information and access the online application at their website: www.rehabworks.org.
