Dear Naples High Families,

As I contemplate the last time I paused to draft a newsletter message to the Naples High School community, I reflect on how much has transpired over the last 4 months. It is difficult to articulate all that our community has navigated in such a short time. One thing I can articulate, without a doubt, is that I am incredibly proud of the empathy, generosity, kindness, resiliency, perseverance, and courage our Golden Eagles have been a model of, to each other and to all those around us.

As we begin the spring semester, we realize just how numbered the days are here at The Nest for our Senior Class. We are fortunate to have an amazing group of young men and women that have taken their leadership role with pride and are making the most of their last year! Their leadership has excelled in the classroom, athletic events, music performances and competitions, drama productions, and their artistic creations that brighten our campus. We are proud to have 1 National Merit Semifinalist in this year's graduating class to go along with 8 other seniors who have been recognized as Commended students by the College Board. Members of the Class of 2023 have already received acceptances from the top universities, and we anticipate even more such announcements and exciting news in the coming weeks. Along with academic accolades, we had our first athletic signing ceremony, honoring record-holders as well as district, regional, and state champions in golf, baseball, swimming, track and field. As the coming months progress, we look forward to honoring many other students in athletics as well as academics and fine arts!

Our underclassmen will soon begin planning for next year through the course selection process. Our administration will work alongside the guidance department to facilitate meetings, both in groups and individually with students, discussing their plans and goals for next year. We encourage students to challenge themselves by not only the rigor of the courses they choose but also in the variety of their selections. We have a range of courses that help draw interest and challenge students in new ways such as courses in music, art, and technology. Another option you may also want to consider is dual enrollment. Take advantage of the many opportunities that are provided as you plan for the next academic year.

As we look forward to the many exciting activities and experiences our students will engage in over the next few months, we want to work alongside you to make sure each student has a positive and successful semester. Please never hesitate to reach out if needed, I look forward to seeing the many great things our Golden Eagles accomplish at the start of 2023!

Assistant Principal Curriculum & Instruction

Happy New Year! Welcome 2023! With the New Year, we think of new beginnings and opportunities. Students and parents, take a moment to reflect on the past few months and how we can improve on some things during semester two. Speaking of semester two, we should all be focusing on our courses, classes, assignments, quizzes and tests. Keep up with all of the work. Quarter three is usually a difficult time for students in terms of struggling with the curriculum. Assignments are more rigorous and time-consuming. This is a great time to learn how to budget time and work through productive struggling. For students that are in need of academic assistance, Naples High is currently offering our After School Academic Assistance Program or ASAAP. Check the student CANVAS announcement page for specific course days and times.

Remember semester two brings with us multiple testing dates. From the continuous ACT/SAT Saturday mornings, to the new Progress Monitoring sessions, and on the End-of-Course exams. Read the weekly updates sent via email from Principal Lee. Check CANVAS for important updates and announcements, especially if you are senior. Seniors, graduation day is rapidly approaching. This is a great time to do an academic self-check. Juniors, sophomores, and freshmen now is the time to start thinking about your courses for next school year.

Sincerely,

Mr. Joseph A. Manento
Asst. Principal

Math Department

- The math department welcomed back to the school our Probability and Statistics teacher, Mr. Bruland.
- With Algebra I EOC retakes coming up, we'd like to encourage students to take advantage of tutoring opportunities. We have tutoring opportunities at lunch on Tuesdays in room 2-207 and on Thursdays in room 2-210A. We also have some after school tutoring opportunities from 2:15 to 3:15 on Mondays in room 2-207, and on Tuesdays and Thursdays in room 2-212.

Happy Winter Break from the NHS Math Department!

*'Twas the weeks before winter break, when all through the school,
Every math teacher was teaching all the math rules.
Assignments were given to the students with care,
In hopes that their grades would not be bare.
The students were nervous and starting to dread,
their upcoming midterms filling their heads.
And our teachers were tutoring some of our students,
With EOC retakes, it's very prudent.
When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter, students sprang from their seats to see what was the matter.
Away to the window, they flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.
The light from the Eagle in the Greenspace was blinding,
But the teachers made sure the students were minding.
When what to our wondering eyes should appear,
but our favorite Stats teacher who used to be here!
With excitement and hope, and only one conclusion,
We knew in a moment it must be Coach Bruland!
More rapid than Eagles he returned to our school,
And we whistled, and shouted, and said, "Oh! How cool!"
Then we heard him exclaim, so happy to be back
"Let's get going, and get back on track!"*

English Department

The teachers and students have been hard at work in the 11-12th grade English department. Every student is working towards their end goal of achieving growth in their subject.

Mrs. Rothring's AP Seminar students are preparing their Team Multimedia Presentation (TMP) for the College Board. They collaboratively synthesize and evaluate individual findings and perspectives to create a collective understanding of different approaches to the problem posed by their selected research question. Each team of three to five students prepares a ten-minute presentation of their solution to this problem. Her AP Research students have completed their literature review to identify the gap in the current field of knowledge. Now, they are conducting their investigation by collecting quantitative and/or qualitative data using their selected research method. The course culminates in an academic paper of 4,000-5,000 words and a presentation with an oral defense.

AP English Language and Composition students in Coach Seevers' class have been studying rhetorical devices and how authors use them in their arguments. The students have analyzed print ads, tv commercials, and even current news articles. His English 4 College Prep classes are working diligently to master the new state standards and prepare for their life in the real world.

In Mr. Prange's 11th grade AICE English Language classes, students are now beginning the imaginative writing unit and will be learning how to "pace" their writing pieces depending on the directives of the prompts. Mr. Prange and his classes are anxiously awaiting sitting for the AICE exam in the spring!

In Mr. Furman's AICE English General Paper classes, students have been building background knowledge weekly about various global issues that are linked to the essay essential questions to help support their writing. Students have also been deconstructing various non-fiction texts to identify each author's purpose by evaluating the effects of tone, diction, sentence structure, persuasive techniques (logos, ethos, and pathos), details, imagery, and figurative language within various texts.

Science Happenings

Biology students at NHS are having fun in Ms. Carriere's classes while learning about predators and prey populations. In a lab activity that used Swedish fish as predators and m&m's as prey, students started with a certain number of each in a paper bag and dropped them onto a page. Depending on how close/far they were from each other students would remove predators or prey and the process would be repeated 20 times to see how the populations of each might change over time. Results were graphed multiple ways and students were checked for understanding. At the end of the activity, the students became the apex predators by consuming both predators and prey. Ms. Carriere has more fun learning opportunities ready to go for students in the coming days.

Join the Blue Gold Club

Did you know that Naples High School currently offers 33 athletic teams over three sports seasons and serves over 400 student-athletes? District funding for athletics in Collier County is limited to providing supplements for coaches and school bus transportation. All other costs (officials, uniforms, tournament fees, etc.) are paid for exclusively from gate receipts and fundraising initiatives. While gate receipts in football are typically very good and help to pay for the expenses in all our non-revenue sports, they are simply not enough to provide the best possible experience for Golden Eagle student-athletes in ALL sports. If you have not already done so, we encourage you to become a member of the Blue Gold Club. Membership forms are available on the NHS website or contact the Activities Department. Thank you to the Golden Eagle supporters that have already contributed this year.
